ROMAN-CATHOLIC ORPHAN ASYLUM.

The recent accident to this Urphan Asylum in 5th-av., between flet and $2d-sts., which resulted in the destruction of the entire roof, compels the Managers to appeal to the charity of the public, and solicit the means for restoring the editice to a condition which will render it a suitable home for the little ones whom it shelters and pretects. As the ordinary resources of the Institution are no more than sufficient to provide for its simple maintenance, the disseter of last Friday has unexpectedly placed the flatters of Charity and the Board of Managers in a most embarrassing situation. Former appeals, however, have taught them, seen in exigencies far less urgent than the present one, to calculate with certainty upon a noble and munificent response whenever the claims of the orphans are presented. They are new in peed, and stretch out their tiny hands for succor. It will not be withheld.

Subscriptions may be sent to the Most Rev. Archbishop; Mother ELIZABETH, Asylum in 5th-av.; Sister Marky FRANCESS, Asylum in Frince-st.; HUGH KELLY, eq., Treasmer, No. 128 Bowery: or to any member of the Board of Managers.

ADELA THE OCTOROON.

BY HEZ. L. HOSMER.

1 vol., 12mo., 400 pages. Muslin. Price $1.

A Reviewer of talent eays: "One of the striking features of this book is the powerful interest with which the plot is wrought out. The incidents, which are frequent, accelerate rather than retard the flow of the tale, and urge to the thrilling and dramatic denouement. The character of Capt. Jake in his unswerving fidelity, his warm and srdent affection, not less than the wild and fearful retribution be brings upon the rellain of the story—he is a true negro—embodying all the virtues that a wicked system permits to a slave.

"Adela's struggles emiliat the sympathies of the reader in her cruel fortunes. She is one of those caim and plaid, yet child-like and clinging natures that awaken love while they temper pity with respect."

REVOLUTIONS OF RACE.
In this work, Dr. Vaughan, the Editor of the British Quarterly Review, intends to group together the leading facts of English History, so as to reveal at a glance the progress of the nation.
It is a step toward the simplification of English History. By the term Revolutions, the author intends to denote the great phases of change through which both the Government and people of England have passed during the historical period of their existence.

people of England have passed during the instorical period of their existence. "A work of this kind," says Blackwood's Magazine, "cannot be superfluous, if it is worthilly executed; and the honorable position which Dr. Vaughan has earned for himself in both the ology and literature, gives us a guaranty that this will be the case. To these pages we may honestly recommend the reader, as the fruit of steady and conscientious labor, directed by a lib-eral and enlightened spirit."

1st. An account shall be rendered of all Vulcantzed Rubber Goods sold by them since October 1, 1838, of all Goods now on 2d They shall agree to pay Mr. Judson the same rate of tariffs which he shall charge other merchants in the trade, when his title is so established that the Courts will grant injunctions sgainst infringers. Mr. Judson proposes to make uniform and liberal settlements with all who subscribe this agreement.

3d. They shall agree that all Goods now on hand, in store, or in port, or that may be received hereafter, are not to be sold without Mr. Judson's license and stamps.

We were surprised that Mr. Day, after the full hearing of the came on bill and answer in the United States Circuit Court of cause on bill and answer in the United States Circuit Court of this District between him and us (the only parties claiming any title or interest in the rights in controversy), should bring new ate Judge Ingersoll of this Court, that "if Day should co the complainants might apply to the Court for an injunction re-straining such acts," which order is on the files of the Court, and still in force.

We had abstained from bringing any suits against infringers on speedy decision of this cause, but we have been disappoint The death of Judge Ingersoll, the time that has elapsed with-out any decision, and the immense injury Day is inflicting on our rights, have determined us to wait no longer, and to prosecute all infringers on our rights, including every person who has sold, or continues to sell, in violation of our rights, the goods aforesaid, purchased from Day or his sgents, or having his stamps.

We do not wish to be understood as soliciting merchants to WILLIAM JUDSON, ceived with great favor by the ancience, which seemed designed to half the departure of the sensation drains and the return of the comic muse."

The Daily Times remarks:

"Winyam Gannan.—Two of the public's best appreciated servants—Mrs. John Wood and Mr. Joseph Jefferson—returned to their legitimate quarters at this popular establishment last evening, and, by the force of fun, dispelled the vapors of a chill and particularly cheeriess night. It is so long since we have had any thing in the shape of downright. It is so long since we have had any thing in the shape of downright and meriment at a New York theseler, that the advert of these artists is certainly a circumstance to be rejoiced at. From the time that Mrs. Wood withdrew from the Winter Gaden, the sensation drams, in one shape or other, has had full possession of its respectable stage. Even Mr. Jefferson, who is by no means of a saturnine and mody disposition, has been compelled, by adverse circumstances, to abstain from making indecorous appeals to the rishlity of the audience. It is something that now, under brighter anasptors, and in view of a notable reaction in public taste, Mr. Staart has determined to give us a feast of a light and wholesome character; and something more, that this feast is presided over by such spirits as Mrs. John Wood and Mr. Jefferson. Two such mirth-provokers cannot be found elsewhere. Their efforts last night—asheit the programme was not attractive for its novelty—kept the house in a roar. Mrs. John Wood has lost none of that vehement joility which has always been the characteristic of her pla, ing, and which nover falls to delight an audience, Mr. Jefferson is, as heretofore, irreproachable and initiable; always doing enough, but never exceeding the bounds of good taste. The prominent members of the very efficient company assist Mrs. Wood in the most desirable way."

WINTER GARDEN.
THE INAUGURATION OF LIGHT COMEDY,

MRS. JOHN WOOD,
Mr. JOSEPH JEFFERSON,
Mr. HARRY PEARSON,

And a company unequated for this character of performances, received by THE PRESS AND PUBLIC with the warmest expression of approbation and delight. The critic of The Herald says: "Mrs. Wood appeared last night in two light pieces, Jenny Lind,' and 'An Object of Interest,' and succeeded in keeping the house in roars of languiter from the beginning to the end of the performance. Mrs. Wood's imitations of the popular Italian we callests of the day were especially clever, and were received with shouts of applause. Mr. Jefferson, who made his entree in 'A Conjugal Lesson,' and Mr. A. H. Davenport, who played the Baron in 'Jenny Lind,' were received with great favor by the andlence, which seemed delighted to hall the departure of the sensation drama and the return of the combe muse."

gagement.

There was also played with great effect the farce of the Conjugal Lesson, in which Mr. Jefferson enacted Simon Lollaby with the undescribable tangle of the legs, and irresistible peculiarities of voice and manner, that first made that bibalous gentleman famous.

"New buriettas are in store to give soope to Mrs. Wood's peculiar and delicious vein of drollery."

On TO-NIGHT (Wednesday) will be presented for the first time, a new two-set Comedy entitled.
